"THE STORE THAT SATISFIES"

Importance of Being Correct.
The Sunday school teacher was talking to the mothers about the wicked children making the good prophet, and how two she bears came out of the mountains and "ate up" over forty of the wicked children. "Now, boys," she concluded, "what lesson does this teach us?" "I know," said one young teacher, "I know how many children a bear can hold."

Touching Tenderness.
A tender parent has been discovered in New York. Having been warned that the milk he sold to other children was slowly killing the latter, he promptly took an expensive bottled milk for the child, though he cheerfully continued to supply the infants of his poorer neighbors with the condemned stock.

Cure for Sleeplessness.
If one is restless and cannot sleep at night, take a common towel, double it four times, dip in cold water and pin around the waist with a dry towel on the outside. For group or sore throat, put the towel around the neck and they will give almost immediate relief.

The Duke's Dream.
The duke of Devonshire, who passed away some years ago, once said to a friend: "Yesterday I went to sleep, and I dreamed that I was addressing the house of lords, and, as I spoke, I found I was addressing the house of lords."—London Telegraph.

No Excitement.
"A man doesn't seem to take any pleasure in writing letters to a woman for the first many years."

The Get Out of the Rut.
"The dull man is made, not by nature, but by the immersion in a single business, and all the more if that be sedentary, uneventful, and infortunously safe. More than half of him will remain unexercised and undeveloped; the rest will be distended and deformed by over-nutrition, over-aerobation, and the heat of rooms."—Robert Louis Stevenson, in "The Wreck."

Uncle Eben.
"De man dat gits de mos' out o' c'lar," said Uncle Eben, "is de on dat's willin' to jump in an' he'p heav cotton while he's down to de doc waitin' foh his pal to come in."

Through the repeal of the muzzling order, the 60,000 dogs of Greater Boston went unmuzzled for the summer for the first many years.

No Interest in Gift.
Attention of the Society for the Suppression of Intemperance is directed to Mr. Frost, intemperate, who is beating a tom-tom and loudly announcing that he is a teetotaler. "Who cares, anyhow?"—New York Telegram.

Net Handicapped by Modesty.
There is one thing that can be said about Mr. Roosevelt, and that is that he never assumes a superior, straightforward, "Rhineclavin" inquirer.

Developed a Beautiful Grouch.
Only a few years ago Rudyard Kipling was a great author. Since then he has become a great ass.—Kansas City Star.

Impossible to Advance Him.
T. R. R. "gets a raise." His father, however, seems perfectly content with his present job.—Chicago Post.

ance of humor. One day while he was painting his portrait to Healy, the painter, speaking of a monk who had left the church and married, he observed, not without malice: "He has taken his punishment into his own hands."

Catty.

"Mrs. Edgealong spoke very admirably of you," said the woman of condescending disposition. "Yes," replied Mrs. Finghit. "She is always doing that. It's a way she has of conveying an impression that she is one of my intimate friends."

A Rare Paper.
A New York woman laughed herself to death at a joke. She evidently submitted to some paper that we don't read.—Washington Post.

Now that the school of instruction of the revenue cut service is established at Fort Trumbull, that sight-seeing reservation having been transferred from the war to the treasury department there are strong indications of its discontinuance within a few years, or possibly within a year. The fact that Fort is being made to have the service form a branch of the navy and another school of instruction for the graduates from the naval academy to take commissions in the revenue cut service after graduation from Annapolis. The school of instruction at Fort Trumbull is a matter of importance sufficient to engage the attention of the Connecticut delegation to congress and especially our own Brundage and Higgins.

The naval authorities are in favor of Winthrop Ballantine, Rev. Marshall J. Jones, and Rev. J. H. Jones. There will also be a prayer meeting conducted by the laymen of the church, which will be held at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments will be served. Week of prayer services will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

FORMER PASTOR DEAD

Members of Salem Congregational Church learn that Rev. S. Cogswell died suddenly in East Braintree, Vt.

The friends in Salem and members of the Congregational church there are grieved to learn of the death of one of their former pastors, Stephen Cogswell, A. M., D. D., who died suddenly at his home in East Braintree, Vt., on the 14th inst. Mr. Cogswell preached at the church at East Braintree on the 13th inst. Following his sermon the church met in conference and voted unanimously to have a high day of prayer and fasting on the cold that day and pneumonia had taken its toll.

Service from the treasury to the navy department, but the secretary of the navy has no objection to the transfer to any such action. The plan of transfer provides that the revenue cutters be transferred to the navy, and the branch of the navy, similar to the marine corps, will be created. It is claimed that the transfer would be a detriment to the efficiency of both the revenue cutter service and the navy, especially in those joint operations which would be advantageous in time of war. The navy department is afraid to interfere with the regular duties of the revenue cutter service. This is a move on the part of the navy which would mean the dissolution of the school of instruction at Fort Trumbull.

This move on the part of the naval authorities is but a tack hammer blow at the revenue cutters. It is a comparison with the sledge hammer crack given by Elsworth P. Berthoff, captain of the revenue cutter Albatross, to the cutter service. He says that the act of recruiting the commission personnel from the navy would be a detriment to the work for which the service

His son, Dr. S. J. Cogswell of Derry, N. H., was called to see him and reach him before he died. Dr. Cogswell was removed to the home of his son, Dr. Cogswell, and the funeral was held from there on Sunday afternoon. The funeral was attended by the Rev. Dr. F. A. F. and A. M., of Putney, Vt. The funeral was in Forest Hill cemetery, Derry, N. H., and was officiated by Dr. Cogswell, survives, but is seriously ill at the home of her son, Dr. Cogswell.

Joseph S. Cogswell was born in Derry, N. H., Oct. 29, 1835. After leaving High school he spent four years in the army, and then was employed in the service department of the navy. The efficiency of the service depends most upon the quality and training of the young men selected to fill the vacancies in the service. The efficiency in the commissioned personnel of the revenue cutter service are by the appointment of officers who must serve a period of instruction and discipline before they are commissioned third lieutenants. For this purpose the school of instruction is maintained at the navy yard. Another argument for the transfer in addition to that set forth by the navy is the fact that during the next fourteen years there will be but twenty-nine retirements for age in the revenue cut-was graduated from the Bangor Theological Seminary. He preached in Andam and Ashburnham Mass. for many years. He was at the same time last charge was the Salem church, leaving there the latter part of June 1913 to accept of the position of pastor of Rev. and Mrs. Cogswell's church. His faithful workers in the church and the spiritual condition of the church was the chief reason for his leaving. His workers were much missed in the community after their removal to Putney, N. H.
